Metropolitan University Hospital Smethwick

Urgent and emergency care services are changing in your local area, so it's important you know where to go and how to use them.

Urgent Treatment Centre

From 6th October, Sandwell Urgent Treatment Centre will have extended opening hours from 7am to 1am.

For all urgent, non-life-threatening needs, you should continue to use:

Sandwell Urgent Treatment Centre, Lyndon, West Bromwich, West Midlands, B71 4HJ

When to use an Urgent Treatment Centre:

You can book an appointment through NHS 111 or walk in for non-life threatening emergencies:

- » Strains and sprains
- » Suspected broken bones
- » Injuries, infections and rashes
- » Stomach pain, vomiting and diarrhoea
- » High temperature
- » Mental health concerns

If you need a prescription, one can be organised for you. Emergency contraception, ECG (electrocardiogram), blood tests and x-rays are also available.

Why you should use an Urgent Treatment Centre:

- » Shorter wait times than A&E (Emergency Department)
- » You can walk in or book an appointment
- » You do not need to be registered with a GP or have a fixed address
- » You will be seen by a trained clinician who can diagnose and deal with many of the common problems people go to A&E for

By visiting an Urgent Treatment Centre you help keep A&E free for those who need it most.

A&E (Emergency Department)

From the 6th October, Sandwell A&E is relocating to a new purpose-built A&E at Midland Metropolitan University Hospital to better serve you and the residents of your local area.

Where is the Midland Metropolitan University Hospital A&E?

Grove Lane, Smethwick, B66 2QT

When to use A&E:

Children and adults should only use A&E for life-threatening emergencies, such as:

- » Chest pain
- » Breathing difficulties
- » Severe bleeding, allergic reactions or burns
- » Signs of a heart attack or stroke
- » Seizure or fit

Your new Midland Metropolitan University Hospital A&E will feature state-of-the-art facilities, be open 24 hours a day and have:

- » 11 emergency, trauma and elective inpatient operating theatres with imaging and diagnostic services to treat patients quickly and effectively
- » A separate children's A&E entrance to provide patients with a better and more calming experience and a dedicated emergency department and assessment unit
- » An adults-only A&E that will offer key treatments and expert assessments, quicker

If you're not sure what to do, NHS 111 will help you. You can either visit 111.nhs.uk or call 111.

Always call 999 or head to A&E for urgent, life-threatening emergencies.
